ADJOURNMENT OF LEGISLATURE

Session Closes at Early Hour Yesterday Morning Amid Applause.

WORNOUT BY WORK.

Important Bills Had Been Cleared From Calendar, Making Easy Sailing Saturday and Saturday Night.

Richmond, March 16.—The General Assembly of Virginia ended its labors early yesterday morning, the House of Delegates adjourning at 12:22 o'clock, after repeatedly turning back the clock to make it possible to rush through a few more minor bills. The Senate had been marking time all evening. Its calendar had been cleared, and the vote could not be obtained to take up other measures not duly advanced.

While the final day was an intensely busy one in the House, the measures of most far reaching importance had been disposed of on Friday, and the struggle throughout the afternoon and evening was to hold a quorum present to dispose of routine matters, hear conference committee reports, straighten out amendments, and clear up all the loose ends of legislation before the session could come to a conclusion.

Technically the General Assembly will not adjourn until Friday. Extra time has been given for the enrolling of bills which are to be signed by the Speaker of the House and the president of the Senate, but at no time will there be more than a few members present to witness those formalities. The period for the passing of bills ended with the final adjournment last night, and singing, "Auld Lang Syne," the members filed out of the halls.

Of the bills left on the House calendar which might have secured final adoption, there was none of supreme importance, or that, in the judgment of the House leaders, would have justified an extension of the actual working session. Lower down on the calendar came more than 200 House bills which were never reached or given any serious consideration.

Among the many bills passed yesterday, that creating the greatest comment allows the Gorham Manufacturing Company to make and sell duplicate casts of the Houdon statue of Washington, the passage of which brought forth heated protests against the presence on the floor of attorneys, office-holders, professional lobbyists and politicians from several sections of the State, who were openly attempting to induce members to vote for the bill. The statue bill has been one of the most persistently lobbied measures before this session, and was bitterly though unsuccessfuly fought until its final passage.

An important bill passed Saturday night will, it is believed, to a large extent abolish capital punishment in Virginia, since it gives juries, in cases of murder in the first degree, the option of punishment by death or life imprisonment.

Features of the session that stand out are the reduction of tax on bank deposits, the plan for an extra session for tax reform, the passage of the enabling act, the fee reform bill, the primary bill and the revision of the Code bill. The three measures most generally discussed all over the State which failed of final enactment into law were the game bill, the co-ordinate college bill and the Torrens land registration bill.

A feature of the closing day in the House was the presentation of a report from the investigating committee entirely vindicating the management of the Confederate Soldiers' Home, and highly praising the institution and its work. Another feature of the morning session was the presentation on the part of the members of the House of a handsome silver service to Speaker Cox, and of suitable remembrances to Clerk John W. Williams and to the other employes.

While the Senate disposed of practically every bill of general interest that was not hopelessly contested, several measures went down in the senatorial graveyard with the regrets of a considerable minority.

Among the bills that died on their second reading was the Adams land registration measure, better known as the "Torrens System" bill. Its progress was barred by the six-objection rule when it was up for consideration Friday night. The measure had strong support in the Senate, but its friends were at no time able to muster the twenty-seven votes required to suspend the rules.

A partial list of the more controversial bills that died on the Senate calendar includes:

The Mapp-Pennington antishipping bill, which proposed to place rigid restrictions about the shipping of intoxicants into "dry" territory.

The Saunders antinuisance bill, which proposed to abolish the segregated district evil through injunction proceedings against owners of property devoted to immoral uses.

The bill which proposed to regulate the commission business by requiring commisison merchants to be licensed and bonded in order that farmers and shippers of produce for sale on commission might be better protected against possible fraud.

LOSS OF LIFE IN RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, March 16.—Details of the hurricane, which swept the province of Kuban, southern Russia, Saturday, were received here last night from Ekaterinodar. A northerly gale caused numerous waterspouts off the east coast of the Sea of Azov and the shore from Yoisk to the Strait of Kertsch, a distance of about 500 miles, flooded nad six villages damaged.

One hundred and seventy-six construction employes on the Kuban Railway were sleeping in a shed when awakened by the storm and fled to a train and endeavored to escape. Soon, however, the engine and cars were overturned by the rushing waters and swept away.

The hurricane raged for ten hours. When it ceased the receding floods revealed scenes of great destruction. Eight miles of the railway embankment were in ruin. The wrecked train was covered with the bodies of dead workmen. Forty-eight of the 176 men finally got to shore on floating wreckage, but it is feared all the others were drowned.

Many courageous rescues of persons floating wreckage on the sea have been reported. Many bodies have been washed ashore at various points.

The meager dispatches received report that 1,500 lives had been lost as a result of the storm, but no reliable details, giving what may be termed an accurate estimate, have yet come to hand.

A similar catastrophe occurred along the shores of the Sea of Azov 37 years ago.

Tiflis, Russia, March 16.—An unusual phenomenon occurred here and in adjacent towns today. The sky was covered early in the morning with dark yellow clouds and fog. Later there was a heavy snowfall, mixed with dust, which covered the ground in a thick layer of pasty mud. The phenomenon is attributed to storms in the Baku district, where the wind raised such tremendous clouds of dust that railway traffic was stopped by accumulations of it heaped at various stations.

BYRD DECLARES ATTACK UNFAIR

WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

Former Speaker Asserts Session of Legislature Just Closed Was Most Important in Years.

Richmond, Va., March 16.—Richard Evelyn Byrd, former Speaker of the House of Delegates came to the front yesterday as the strong champion of the General Assembly. In an interview, Mr. Byrd said that the session just closed was, in the number of big messures adopted, the most important in years. He takes the ground that the public should not condemn members for not working when they have worked hard and enacted laws of far-reaching value.

"I think there has been a great deal of unjust and utterly uncalled-for criticism of this General Assembly," said Mr. Byrd.

"This is unfortunate for two reasons. First, it dissatisfies the people of Virginia with their governmental system; second, it is unfair to the individual members, because it tends to destroy the confidence of the constituencies in their representatives, and encourages too frequent changes.

"It is unjust to charge the members of the General Assembly with the defects of an institution for which they are not responsible, and which was imposed upon them by the Constitution. The session is limited to sixty days, and the mere grinding of the machinery of legislation takes up a large part of that time, leaving very little time for discussion. The charge that the General Assembly did not work is unfounded. The average man does not know that every bill must be considered by the committees of both houses before it can get on the calendar of either. So that for the first forty days of the session the Assembly is busy not in general session, but through its committees. It is a tremendous task to consider and sift 1,400 bills.

"After the task has been performed, the reported bills go to the calendar, and discussion and action are transferred to the full bodies. Why should members of the House be abused for discussing these bills? A legislature is essentially a deliberative body, and the right of discussion is vital. If the members discuss a bill they are accused of being hot-air artists, and if they passed a bill without discussion they are accused of hasty and ill-considered legislation. The fact is that the average personnel of both House and Senate is of a very high order.

In the House there were about sixty-five new men, and they had to learn. While they were learning the very force and individuality of the members inclined them to assertion and discussion. There is much valuable material among those new men which should not be lost to the State by the injurious effect of unwarranted criticism.

"Speaker Cox presided with dignity and force, and his management during the last week is worthy of the highest praise. It gives me pleasure to say that this General Assembly has done more important work than any assembly which has come under my personal observations. I can cite twelve acts which, whether we agree with their purpose or not, we must concede to be of the highest importance: (1) the enabling act; (2) the tax commission; (3) the codification act; (4) the rolling-stock apportionment; (5) the fee bill; (6) an improved primary law; (7) an improved child-labor law; (8) an optional death or life imprisonment sentence; (9) the legislative reference bureau; (10) the general normal college board; (11) the factory inspection act; (12) the judges' compensation act.

"I think the General Assembly should have the thanks, not the condemnation, of the State."

FAIR OPENS NEXT MONDAY.

Committees of American Indian Guards Making Preparations.

The various committee who will have charge of the fair, in the interest of Lone Star Camp No. 1, American Indian Guards, are busily engaged in completing plans and arrangements, for this occasion, which will commence on next Monday, the 23rd, for a period of ten days. Prospects of a huge success of the affair seems bright, as much enthusiasm is in evidence on all sides, in the organization itself, in the committees, and by the public.

The opening night, Monday, the 23rd, will be Red Men's night, and a special train will bring a delegation of 150 or more of Red Men from Washington on this occasion. The two local tribes, Osceola and Seminole, preceded by the American Indian Guard Band, will meet these Washington braves at the intersection of King and Payne streets from where they will escort them to the hall.

The boys of Lone Star Camp No.1 American Indian Guards, will greatly appreciate and donations or contributions for their fair, that the citizens of Alexandria may care to give, which may be left at Brawner Bros., store, or with W. S. Nicklin, mgr. The fair begins Monday, March 23rd, in Odd Fellows Hall.

SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union Organized.

Appomattox, Va., March 16.—The school board of Clover Hill and Stonewall School Districts closed the rural schools last week, after having run only five months. The schools heretofore have been running for six months, but this year the authorities were forced to shorten the term one month owing to shortage of funds. The taxpayers are complaining of the short term, claiming that inasmuch as taxes have been the same, the school term should be the same. It is claimed by the boards that because the Department of Education demanded sanitary conditions be arranged at each rural school and the cost was so great, unless the term was shortened the various districts would be bankrupt.

For the first time in the history of the county the women of the town have organized a Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. Amy Weed, State organizer, of Alexandria, spoke at the auditorium of the Agricultural School last night. Twenty-nine charter members joined Saturday with Mrs. C. A. Allen, president; Mrs. G. A. Walton, secretary, and Mrs. L. E. Smith, treasurer. Money was raised to start the work and while ribbons were awarded all the members as an emblem of personal abstinance.

BABY'S $1500 JOY RIDE.

Mother's Diamonds, Hidden in Perambulator, Lost on Outing.

Chicago, March 16.—Baby Sourapas had a $1500 "joy-ride" yesterday in his new perambulator and last night his parents were advertising in the papers in the hazy hope that some honest person found the treasure and will return it.

Lured by the bright, balmy day, Stephen Sourapas, who is a steamship agent, took his son and their out for an airing in a new buggy. The journey was about half over when the father raised the hood of the carriage to shut out the strong light. He did not notice a small chamois bag fall from the leather hood to the street. Mrs. Sourapas, having in mind the ever-present Chicago burglar, had chosen the hood of the baby buggy as an appropriate place in which to store the family diamonds.

DEATH AN ACCIDENT.

The coroner's jury summoned several days ago to investigate the death of William Levell, colored, who died at the Alexandria Hospital after swallowing carbolic acid, met this afternoon at Demaine's undertaking establishment. All the evidence was to the effect that Levell had taken the poison by accident.

ANOTHER TROOP TRAIN BLOWN UP

Hundreds of Men Said to Have Been Killed in Mountain Pass.

HUERTANS VICTIMS.

Electric Batteries Said to Have Been Used by Rebels to Blow up Cars Containing Government Troops.

Chihuahua, March 16.—General Villa's headquarters today confirmed reports that a Mexican federal troop train had been blown up by constitutionalists at Zavalza today, although no figures are given as to the killed, wounded and captured, which will run up into the hundreds.

Gen. Emgenio Aguirro Benavides commanded the rebels, according to the advices from Escalon. They say that Benavides, Saturday night, drove a federal attacking party in retreat from Peronal to Bermijilli, but in doing so ran into an overwhelmingly superior force. The reenforced federals compelled Benavides to retreat to Conejas, where he entrained for Escalon.

During the night, finding he had not been followed, Benavides mined a long section of the Mexican Central railroad tracks, running through a narrow pass, just south of Zavalza nad connected the mines with electric batteries posted over a hill where the operators would not be discovered. A section of track sufficintly long to hold half a dozen trains was mined.

Benavides dispatched a train to the southward to a point just north of Conejas, when he discovered four federal troop trains leaving Peronal. He retreated to Escalon and as he passed Zavalza notified the batterymen of the coming of the federals.

The men manipulating the keys evidently became excited and when one of the troop trains got upon the mined section of track, touched a button, wrecking the train, but stopping the other three and giving them time to retreat.

General Benavides had a number of men secreted in the surrounding hills, and they attacked the survivors of the train, but the number killed and wounded is not stated. Benavides contents himself with the statement that the federal loss was heavy, while he lost none.

Beyond a report that he was engaged with a force of federals south of Palavo, General Thomas Urbina has made no statement to general headquarters here, which has been made public.

Washington, March 16.—Orders were today telegraphed to Major General Murray, at San Francisco, to investigate the raid into Lower California Saturday by Mexican bandits. They burned the customs house and postoffice at Tecate, and murdered the postmaster, Frank V. Johnson. As soon as Secretary of War Garrison receives the report it will be turned over to the State Department, and representations made to the Mexican authorities.

In addition, the commander at Fort Rosecrans has been directed to patrol the border at this point, and endeavor to locate the bandits who may still be in American territory.

A report was awaited today from Charge O'Shaughnessey, at Mexico City, detailing the refusal of Huerta to assume financial responsibility for the care of the federal refugees now prisoners of war at Fort Bliss. Inasmuch as this Government intends to held the permanent government of Mexico when peace is finally restored, responsible for these bills, Huerta's refusal will make no change in the care of the refugees.

Reports received at both the State and War Departments, before communication south of Juarez was interrupted, indicates that what should prove the most sanguinary conflict of the present Mexican rebellion has begun near Torreon. The force on both sides will be the largest of the present struggle, and this time both sides have an abundance of modern artillery and arms and ammunition. The federals in an effort to gain the initial advantage were reported to have assumed the offensive only to have their skirmish line ambushed and driven back with loss. That the fight will be decisive was believed certain here because of the report that Villa impresed a special train to carry Carranza, and the most expert artilleryman in the constitutional army from Juarez to Chihuahua, to join him and the further statement that both would proceed to the front at once.

SLATE FOR TAX COMMISSION.

Ellyson and Cox to Name Senate And House Members This Week.

Richmond, Va., March 16.—Lieut-Governor Ellyson, as president of the senate, and Speaker Cox, of the House of Delegates, will announce the appointment of members of the tax commission within the next two or three days. Under the act passed by the General Assembly, a commission composed of three senators, four delegates and three citizens to be named by the Governor, will undertake the great work of preparing tax revision laws to be considered at a special session in January.

Men who are familiar with legislative matters figured it out yesterday that Mr. Ellyson would appoint Senators Echols, Harman and Fletcher—or Buchanan—and that Speaker Cox would designate Delegate Aubrey G. Weaver, chairman of the House Finance Commitetee; Delegate R. L. Brewer, chairman of the House Committee on Corporations, and Delegates Pitt, of Albemarle, and Hobson, of Richmond.

Many other slates were made and broken, although in the end most of the talk centered around the members just mentioned. It is expected that Mr. Ellyson and Speaker Cox will confer before making their announcements for it is admitted that much depends upon the proper selection of men who must spend months of hard work in the effort to frame bills for the special session.

Governor Stuart, of course, will not appoint three members of the commission in advance of the two branches.

There are many candidates. Some of them are already at work, others are being urged, although it is believed that this outside pressure will amount to anything unless the suggestions relate to the highest type of men in Virginia.

DEADLOCK IN IRISH HOME RULE

Settlement of Difficulty Little advanced by Concessions.

DEFIANT ATTITUDE.

London, March 16.—A settlement of the Irish home rule difficulty apparently has been little advanced by the British government's great concessions to the Ulsterites, and taking the assertions of both political parties at their face value, the deadlock now remains as immovable as before Premier Asquith's conciliatory offer was made in the House of Commons on March 9th.

The signers of the Ulster covenant declare strongly that nothing less than the permanent exclusion of the Protestant countries of Ulster from the Irish government at Dublin, instead of the proposed six-year option, will be considered by them.

The more radical covenanters demand not only the exclusion of the four counties—Antrim, Armagh, Londonderry and Down—in which the Protestants are in the majority, but they want the entire province of Ulster excluded. Anything else, they say, would be desertion of their comrades in counties where Protestants are in the minority, and would be treason to their covenant.

Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster Union, sent a message to Belfast saying, "If anything necessitates a still more forward movement this year, we are going to make good in action all we have been saying and preparing for during the past two years."

On the other side the government newspapers assert that Premier Asquith's scheme is the absolute limit of concessions, and is not a basis for further negotiations.

Winston Spencer Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, speaking at Bradford, Yorkshire, yesterday, said:

"It seems to me that in principle—I don't speak in details—that it is the last offer his Majesty's government can or ought to make."

Sir Edward Russell, who is a close friend of Premier Asquith, writing in the Liverpool Daily Post, of which he is the editor, takes a different view. He says: "In non-political clubs everybody is confident that Premier Asquith has made up his own mind to let the Nationals go; that sooner or later he will tell Mr. Redmond that the only feasible home rule is the one with the entire exclusion of Ulster."

Irish Nationalist newspapers declare that John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader in the House of Commons, and his colleagues, could not possibly support a bill containing further surrenders from the original scheme of home rule. Some of the Nationalist organs bitterly denounce the Nationalist members for submitting to Premier Asquith's terms.

Little talk is heard that the Orangemen's preparations to fight are a gigantic bluff. The covenanter's claim to have 90,000 men drilling in Sir Edward Carson's army, with 60,000 rifles and some pieces of artillery.

The London newspapers are filled with pictures of Ulstermen in civilian clothes, and with rifle and cartridge belts, executing skirmish and other drills like trained soldiers.

Mr. Churchhill, in commenting in his Bradford address on the preparations being made in Ulster to resist home rule, said:

"The first British soldier or coast guard who is attacked and killed by the Orangemen will raise such an explosion in this country as the Tories little appreciate, and it will shake the foundations of society."

Percy Holden Illingworth, the chief liberal whip in the House, speaking at the same meeting, said there would be no general election until some rule for Ireland, the Welsh disestablishment and the plural voting bills had been passed by Parlia-

Washington Negroes Sentenced for Disorderly Conduct on Electric Cars

In imposing jail sentences of sixty and ninety days, in addition to fines, on four persons charged with creating a disturbance on the electric cars between Alexandria and Washington Saturday and Sunday nights, Police Justice Caton announced this morning that the sentences were light as compared with those he would give in the future. In all of the cases brought before him today there were some mitigating circumstances which reduced the number of days the offenders will have to spend in jail.

Seven persons, three men and four women, all colored, were caught in the net which the police spread on Saturday and Sunday when four officers in plain clothes and four special officers of the electric railway company were detailed to ride all of the electric cars between Alexandria and Washington. On Saturday night the arrests were Hufman Brown, Frank Williams, Bertha Williams and Iola Payne. According to the testimony of Officers Campbell, Kern and Wilkinson, the quartette boarded the car at the corner of Columbus and Cameron streets. Brown was disorderly, and when Officer Kern attempted to quiet him he struck at the officer. Chief Goods then took a hand and he was attacked by the Payne woman. The Williams woman also interfered, and her husband, Frank Williams, who was on the platform, tried to push Officer Campbell out of the way to enter the car. Hufman Brown and Iola Payne were fned $10 each and sent to jail for ninety days and the two Williams fined $10 each.

A number of prominent people from Washington appeared in court to testify to the good character of the Williams couple.

Oscar Hill, Annie Hill and Ella Witherspoon were taken from the cars last night charged with disorderly conduct. They entered the train at Arlington Junction and were in a constant row all the way to Alexandria. Oscar Hill and Annie Hill were fined $10 each and sent to jail for sixty days and the Witherspoon woman dismissed.

Thomas disposed of the clothing to a second-hand dealer. When asked if he had anything to say in his defense, the accused alleged that the clothing had been given to him by a man. Justice Caton sentenced him to serve six months in jail.

BOND ISSUE SUSTAINED

Judge Louis C. Barley Hands Down Decision in Case of Town of Manassas

In the Circuit Court of Alexandria, Judge Louis C. Barley, designated by the Governor to sit in the place of Judge J. B. T. Thornton, handed down a decision today sustaining the validity of the $75,000 bond issue of the town of Manassas, which were authorized for the purpose of installing an electric light plant, water work nad sewerage system for that town.

The objection on the part of the complainants, J. A. Morgan, and others, to the contract with the Hanchett Bond Comany, of Chicago, who are the purchasers of the bonds, was sustained, and the latter was required to deposit a certified check for $5,000, as evidence of their good faith. This was done.

The defendants were represented by Thomas H. Lyon, of Prince William county, and Judge C. E. Nicol, of this city, and the complainants by Bryan Gordon, of Manassas.

AN IDEAL SUNDAY.

Balmy Spring Weather Brings Many Persons on The Streets.

The weather yesterday was in marked contrast to that of previous Sundays this year. The mellow sunshine, suggestive of early spring, was greatly enjoyed by both young and old, and many took long walks into the rural districts.

The snow of the past few days has virtually disappeared, as has also the ice which recently covered the river, and while there will probably be decided changes in the temperature at times, the winter is practically over. By this time next week the sun will have crossed the line, when, according to the almanac, spring commences.

Fair, early spring weather over nearly all parts of the country during the coming week is promised by the Weather Bureau:

"The weather will be unsettled Monday, however," said the weekly bulletin, "along the northern border from the Great Lakes eastward and there will be rains the first part of the week in the North Pacific States.

"The next disturbance of importance will appear on the North Pacific Coast Monday night or Tuesday, cross the Great Central Valleys Wednesday or Thursday and the Eastern States about Friday. This disturbance will be attended by local rains and snows and it will be followed by colder weather over the Northern States east of the Rocky Mountains."

His body was taken to the hospital where Dr. William M. Smith made every effort to resuscitate him but without success. The body was taken to Demaine's undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

BODIES SWEPT AWAY.

Divers Experience Great Difficulty in Operating in Wreck.

Norfolk, March 16.—All the bodies which sunk with the Old Dominion liner Monroe, when she was rammed by the Merchants and Miners ship Nantucket off the Virginia coast on January 30, have been swept out of the wreck by a strong submarine current.

Divers having nearly 200 additional pounds of lead on their equipment found it impossible to remain on their feet in the strange, fierce current which sweeps about the wreck. Forty-three lives were lost in the collsion. How many of those went down imprisoned in the ship is not known, but there was hope of recovering some bodies.

Divers found that Lifeboat No. 1, which sme witnesses at the government's investigation testified was smashed in the collsion, had been cut loose as one witness testified. That witness said he cut the boat loose with two negro women in it. They undoubtedly drifted away in the fog and were lost. The divers also found that the Nantucket struck the Monroe below Lifeboat No. 1. The cargo may be recovered.

An active man, he became chilled while overseeing the work on his large farm, and growing worse, was taken to Charlottesville hospital, where he died.

Captain Walker was born in Madison count in 1840. At the opening of the war he was one of the first to join the Confederate forces. He saw much active service in Mosby's command, where he was conspicuous for his bravery, even among such brave comrades, and rose to the rank of captain.

Revised Bill Provides For Absorption of the Bureau of Corporations.

Washington, March 16.—The revised Administration trade commission bill is ready for introduction in the House, following its approval by the President and the Attorney General and practically the entire membership of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The bill, made public last night, provides for the creation of an Interstate Trade Commission of three members, which is given wide powers of investigation over corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

Members of the commission are to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. They will receive $10,000 a year and not more than two of the commissioners shall be of the same party.

Throw Girls Out of Employment.

Richmond, Va., March 16. — The House of Delegates doubled back on its tracks Friday night, and receded from amendments to a bill in relation to hours of labor which will have the effect of throwing out of employment a large number of women working in labeling and bottle washing departments of wholesale liquor houses. The bill is known as Senate bill No. 149, to regulate the hours of labor in factories where women and children under the age of fourteen are employed. It carried an independent section prohibiting the employment of males under twenty-one years of age, and females, in places where intoxicating liquors are manufactured, bought, sold, packed or shipped.

Staunton "Dry" After Today.

Staunton, Va., March 16.—The saloons of this city will close for good tonight. The city voted "dry" in the local option election December 16. There has been no rush to lay in supplies as was the case four years ago when the saloons were voted upon. The majority of the saloonkeepers are acting as if they considered the decision final. One firm has sold its building and some are arranging to enter business in other cities.

WORK OF SPECIAL SESSION.

General Assembly Protects Itself From All Other Issues Save Tax Bill.

Richmond, Va., March 16.—Questions relatin gto tax reform only will be considered at the special session of the General Assembly to be held in January, 1915, on completion of the reports of the special committee which in the interim is to study the question and prepare two or more bills on alternate lines for consideration.

Attorney-General Pollard has decided that in issuing a call for a special session the Governor could not limit it to one field of action—that it would be for the body to determine when it assembles whether it would take up other business than that specifically mentioned in the call issued by the Governor. As it is wish of the Assembly to limit the special session only to the consideration of matters of tax reform without being hampered and buttonholed by all the horde of lobbyists of the various causes, good, bad and indifferent, both houses took action Saturday which, will have the effect of limiting the action at the special session to the one subject under discussion.

SAINT PATRICK.

Saint Patrick, whose birthday is celebrated tomorrow, was born, perhaps in 389 A. D.

His father, Calpurnius, was a Briton; like all free subjects of the empire, he was a Roman citizen; the classical student will recognize that he bore a Roman name. He was a decurion, or member of the governing council of a Roman town. Bennaventa is the name of the village which blessed the earth by giving St. Patrick to her service; the locality, however, cannot be certainly identified. A pains-taking, critical biographer of our subject inclines to locate the site in Southwestern Britain, perhaps in the region of the lower Severn.

In St. Patrick's seventeenth year, being on his father's farmstead, he was carried away captive by a party of Irish freebooters, who, marauding the neighborhoods of river banks and coast lines, plundered everything they could convey with any convenience in their boats.

Calpurnius and his wife, Concessa, St. Patrick's mother, escaped; the pirates could only bear off a certain number of slaves, and selected the young.

Of all that befell St. Patrick during his captivity in Ireland, little is known, but we have some information from his own pen. When the boats of his captors reached the haven, the youth was led across the island to serve a master in the very farthest parts of the "ultimate land," who dwelled near the wood of Fochlad, nigh to the western sea, to this day wild and desolate, though the forest has long been cleared away.

Records transport us to a distant part of Ireland, far away from the forest of Fochlad, where the young captive served a master named Milliuec, ancestor, possibly of later day Mikes. Here, says the record, Patrick herded droves of pigs on Mount Miss. "Its curious, striking shape, like an inverted bowl, exercises a charm on the eye and haunts one who is walking in the valley of the Braid."

While he ate the bitter bread of bondage in a foreign land, a profound change came over him.

He recalled the years of his bondage as his development into the higher life. During this period nostalgia weighed down the youth, and he believed himself divinely encouraged to escape. The port toward which he directed his flight was some 180 miles distant. The ship of his dreams was there. First favorable and then unfavorable decision was made about his being accepted for services. He turned from the seamen, and was seeking the shelter which he had secured, but prayed as he went. He heard one of the crew shouting behind him, "Come quickly, for they are calling you."

When they landed the party had a long faring through a wilderness.

It was on his return to Britain that he became conscious of the true destiny of his life. In a vision of the night, it seemed to St. Patrick that he saw a certain man, Victorius standing by his side; that he had come from Ireland, and held in his hand a bundle of letters. "And he gave me one of these, and as I read the beginning of it I fancied that I heard the voice of the folk who were near the wood of Fochlad, nigh to the western sea. And this was their cry: "We pray thee, holy youth, to come and again walk among us as before." I was pierced to the heart, and could read no more; and thereupon I awoke."

Distrusting his own fitness for such an enterprise, conscious of the defective education of his youth, he felt hesitation and uncertainty. But the mastering instinct of his soul overcame his diffidence and his natural repugnace to return to the land where he had spent his youth in captivity.

The future missionary went to Auxerre, in Gaul, as the place of his study. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Amator before long, and it seems that two other young men, one of them a native of Ireland, who were afterward to help him in the spread of Christianity, were here ordained at the same time.

Fourteen years passed from the ordination of St. Patrick till the day came for setting forth to his chosen task. It is too long to tell of the circumstances that eventuated in St. Patrick being consecreated bishop. He started for the field of his work invested with the authority and office which would render his labors effective.

It was not only the religion, but also the language which attached to it, that inaugurated a new period of culture for Ireland and opened a wider outlook on the universe. Schools of learning which became famous a few generations after St. Patrick's death owe their rise to the contact with Roman ideas and the acquaintance with Roman literature which St. Patrick's efforts, more than anything else, lifted within the horizon of Ireland.

JAIL SENTENCES
THE PROPER REMEDY.

The action of Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning in imposing fines and imprisonment upon persons guilty of disorderly conduct on electric trains entering or leaving Alexandria will prove a deterrent to residents of Washington and other places who visit this city and make themselves conspicuous. Since the abolition of the "red light" section in the District of Columbia the number of nocturnal visitors, white and black, has increased perceptibly, and just complaint is being made of disorderly proceedings on the part of strangers on the electric trains.

The drastic action taken by the Police Court this morning will tend more towards breaking up such proceedings than any other movement.

Several negroes, male and female, were disorderly on an incoming electric train last night, and Officers Campbell, and Kern, and Constable Payne, of Fairfax county, boarded the train and the disorderly passengers were taken in custody.

One negro woman had boasted that nobody could take her in charge, and said if any attempt was made to arrest there would be something doing.

The accused were fined ten dollars each and in addition sentenced to serve sixty days in jail.

Sentences of 90 days in jail and $10 fine were imposed on a man and woman who were disorderly Saturday night.

The scum of Washington who may in future come here and become disorderly, if brought before the Police Court, may find themselves armed with picks on the highways of Virginia.

Free-For-All Fight.

Norfolk, Va., March 16.—A basketball game between two teams representing the Navy and Central Y. M. C. A., broke up in a free-for-all fight Saturday night, in which several spectators and sailors took part. The game was played in the Naval Y. M. C. A., and was witnessed by a big crowd.

There were a number of women in the audience, and when the fight started there was considerable excitement.

The fight started between Captain Seeman, of the Navy team, and Captain Armstrong, of the Central Y. M. C. A., It was caused by the players' slugging each other during the progress of the game.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Miss Fanny L. Evans, daughter of United States Judge Walter Evans, was killed yesterday morning by a fall from the third floor of their apartment in Louisville, Ky. She had been in poor health for some time, and is supposed to have gone to the window for air, and had a fainting spell.

Pulpit utterances favoring a new trial for Leo M. Frank, under sentence of death for the murder of Mary Phagan, 14-year-old employe of a pencil factory, of which Frank was superintendent, were made in several Atlanta churches yesterday.

There was a serious riot yesterday in the Dominican Church, which is situated in the quarter occupied by Moabit workmen in Berlin. Two thousand Poles, who demanded that their children who attended the Sunday school be taught in Polish, invaded the church with their little ones. The latter, at the direction of their parents, rushed to the altar, chattering in Polish. Their parents joined in the pandemonium, hooted the priests, and shouted "Judas." Eighty policemen had a hard task clearing the church. The women were violent. They clung to the pews, threw themselves on the floor, and struggled like militant suffragettes. They had to be forcibly dragged into the street.

The Duke of the Abruzzi has reported to the Italian ministry of the navy that excellent results were obtained by William Marconi last week in his experiments on board the battleship Regina Elina with a new raido-telephonic apparatus. Communication was had with ships 13 miles away where land intervened between the communicating vessels. Telephonic connection continued uninterruptedly between the ships for twelve hours, according to the report.

A serious earthquake occurred yesterday in the prefecture of Akita, Island of Hondo, Japan. A number of persons in the city of Akita were killed and many houses destroyed or damaged. In the village of Kowakubi, which was ruined, there were many casualties. The disturbances badly damaged the railroad and telegraph lines. The volcano Asama-Yama, 90 miles northwest of Tokyo, is in eruption.

Hearing a pistol shot shortly before 10 o'clock last night, Frederick Pritchard, 1024 Spring road northwest Washington, rushed upstairs and found his wife, Stella Pritchard, 26 years old, lying in a pool of blood on the bedroom floor. There was a bullet wound in the center of the chest. Dr P. H. Zinkham was summoned and ordered the woman removed to the Emergency Hospital, where she died 45 minutes later without regaining consciousness.

Found Dead in Snow.

Danville, Va., March 16.—L. M. Farthing, a well-known farmer of Falling Creek, was found frozen to death on White Oak Mountain by Robert Groff, a farmer, last week. Groff, who was going to see some land on the hillside steped on the corpse, which was hidden beneath the snow, before he discovered it. Farthing, who was sixty years old, had been ill for several days, and he sent out from his home to visit some friends just before the snow began falling. Farthing was a highly respected man. He is survived by several children.

ROBERT Y. CONRAD WEDS.

Balttimore, March 16.—The wedding of Mrs. Helen Wylie McLaughlin, daughter of Mrs. Wylie and the late William Alexander Wylie, of Baltimore, and Mr. Robert Young Conrad, son of Major and Mrs. Holmes Conrad, of Winchester, Va., took place quietly at noon yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Wylie, in this city.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James H. Lacy, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Winchester. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Bruce Wylie.

Following a wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad left for New York, whence they will sail on Tuesday on the Carolina for Europe to spend their honeymoon.

Governor Walsh, of Massachusetts, announced that he would call a "prosperity conference" of the mayors of cities and the selectmen of towns of the State to discuss plans for commercial development of the various communities.

We Promise You Relief from All Stomach Troubles—Or Your Money Back

We honestly believe we have the best remedy in the world for indigestion and dyspepsia. We urge you to try it at our risk. If it doesn't relieve you—as we feel sure it will—we'll give back your money without a word. You know us—your family druggist. You know we wouldn't dare recommend anything we didn't know about, nor dare to break a promise. Therefore, when we recommend any remedy it is because we believe it to be better than any other to relieve the ailment for which it is made, and when we prove our faith in it and our sincerity toward you by promising to give back your money if it doesn't relieve you and in every way satisfy you, you have no possible excuse for doubt or hesitation.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets

are, we honestly believe, the best remedy made for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all other Stomach Ills

We Know They're Good

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, in addition to other ingredients, contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two great digestive aids used by the entire medical profession. They soothe the inflamed stomach, check the heartburn and distress, stimulate a healthy secretion of the gastric juice, aid in rapid and comfortable digestion of the food and help to quickly convert it into rich red blood, and thereby into flesh, bone and muscle. They relieve stomach distress promptly, and, used regularly for a short time, tend to restore the stomach to a comfortable, easy-acting, healthy state. They aid greatly to promote regular bowel action.

Delays Are Dangerous

Don't neglect indigestion, for it frequently leads to all sorts of ills and complications. The pain and discomfort is not the most unfortunate part. The fact that when the stomach is not acting right, the material needed to repair the wastes that are constantly taking place in the body is not being given to the blood either in the proper condition or fast enough is far more serious. Nothing will cause more trouble than an unhealthy stomach. The blues, debility, lack of strength and energy, constipation, biliousness, headaches and scores of other serious ailments result from the failure of the stomach to properly do its work.

You Risk No Money

Our willingness to have you use Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets entirely at our risk proves our faith in them. We always sell them this way, and it is because we know that they have greatly benefited scores of sufferers to whom we have sold them. There's no red tape about our guarantee. It means just what it says. We'll ask you no questions. You needn't sign anything. Your word is enough for us. We know that when they help you you will consider it money well spent even if they had cost you ten times as much. If they don't help you, the money you paid for them is yours, and we want you to have it.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores—the World's Greatest Drug Stores. In convenient boxes—three sizes: 25c, 50c, $1.00

March is a trying month for very young and for elderly people. Croup, bronchial colds, lagrippe, and pneumonia are to be feared and avoided. Foley's Honey and Tar is a great family medicine that will stop a cough, check the progress of a cold, and relieve inflamable and congested air passages. E. C. Rhodes, Middletown Ga., says: "Lagrippe gave me a hacking cough for which I got no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and was soon well of both cough and cold." E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, agents.

When you buy Foley's Honey and Tar Compound because just a few doses stop the cough and heals the cold, one bottle lasts a long time, and the last dose is as good as the first. Mrs. SSS 20 Van Buren St., Kingston, N. Y., says: "Father had lagrippe and his cough was something terrible and he could not sleep. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stopped his coughing, but it brought back my voice to me after a severe case of bronchitis and laryngitis." E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

The Open Door

The retail merchant who has Bell telephone service has an always-open door. In stormy weather and in sunshine the telephone provides a means of receiving orders.

Then, there is the convenience of it to the retail merchant in placing rush orders with the wholesale house.

Lastly, the telephone in a retail store gives that store a certain prestige over the stores without telephone service.

SNOW A BOON TO FARMERS.

Moisture Expected to Make Big Increase in Year's Crops.

Columbus, N. J., March 16—The recent blizzard will add $500,000 in value to the crops harvested on New Jersey farms the coming summer, according to prominent Burlington county farmers, who say a direct result of the big snow will be to check a spring and early summer drought. As there was little or no frost in the ground when the blizzard came, farmers claim that water from the gradually melting snow has been able to seep into the earth instead of running off into brooks and streams, with the result that springs and other natural reservoirs are stocked with a sufficient supply of moisture to last all summer.

Vetoes Oyster Measure.

Richmond, Va., March 16.—Governor Stuart sent to the House for Deltoring, Friday night, a message vetoing House bill No. 126, fror the relief of the oyster planters, whose oysters are unmarketable by reason of the disease commonly known as "green gill." The bill provides that where an oyster planter, leasing state land through the Commission of Fisheries, whose oysters were affected with the disease known as green gill, he might apply to the commission for release from payment of rental ,and be relieved of payment.

The Governor gave as his objection that the annual rental of oyster grounds was fixed by law, and the planter leasing the land takes the risk of profit or loss as a part of his business venture.

VIRGINIA TO HONOR TYLER.

Legislature Will Send Committee to Monument Unveiling.

Richmond, March 16.—Governor Henry C. Stuart sent a special message to the General Assembly Saturday recommending to honoring the memory of John Tyler, once Governor of Virginia and President of the United States, who is buried in Hollywood cemetery.

On the reading of the message Mr. Gregory, of New Kent, offered a joint resolution carrying into effect the suggestion of the Governor by providing for a joint committee, to consist of five members of the House and three of the Senate, with the Lieutenant-Governor and president of the Senate , to attend the unveiling of the Tyler monument. with the Governor of Virginia, as the official representatives of this State. The resolution was adopted.

MORE WHITE HOUSE BRIDES.

Triple Wedding Expected in Executive Mansion.

The possibility of a double, perhaps a triple, wedding at the White House in June was the topic with which all Washington society entertained itself yesterday.

Miss Eleanor Wilson is to marry Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. This has been announced.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Wilson, eldest daughter of the President, to Boyd Fisher, of New York, is expected. Then there is a rumor that Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, cousin of the President, is engaged to Dr. Cary Grayson, U. S. N., the President's physician. Miss Bones makes her home with the President's family.

There never has been a double—much less a triple—wedding in the White House. Nor has there ever been a President who ever had more than one daughter married in the White House.

An interesting feature of the romance is found in the gossip that the 50-year-old Secretary of the Treasury won his bride despite the ardent attention of a Mr. King, of Princeton, who has been wooing Miss Wilson since her Princeton days.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD.

Russia and Austria-Hungary About to Cross Swords.

Berlin, March 16.—Another war scare is hovering over Europe, Russia and Austria-Hungary are declared to be near an open break. Sensational articles appeared in the press here and elsewhere throughout Europe yesterday.

The German Germania printed a story to the effect that Russia is engaged in mobilizing troop trains, commandered for the purpose of transporting soliders to the Austrian border. Strong editorial comment was made in news contained in dispatches from St. Petersburg that the Bourse Gazette, a supposedly social organ, in its issue of Thursday carried the phrase:

"Russia is now fully prepared for war."

The latest war scare has been sufficient to cause activity in German military circles and to work mischief on the Bourse here. The stock exchanges in Paris and London also felt the depressing effects of the rumors.

Mr. Sazanoff, Russian foreign minister, is in Vienna, the capital of the nation against which the wrath of Russia is directed.

Questioned by a representative of the Budapest Journal, the Russian official is said to have denied that there is any conflict of interests. He refused to explain, however, why the military estimates for 1914, just submitted to the Russian Douma, show an increase of 30 per cent.

Should a breach develop between Russia and Austria, Germany would face the possibility of enrollment. This country is linked to Austria by the Triple Alliance which also includes Italy. On the other hand Russia would have the friendship of two powerful European nations. England and France.
